Sean Barry, Senior Data Recovery Engineer, Kroll Ontrack

BIOGRAPHY

Sean Barry joined Ontrack Data Recovery in 1997 supporting Ontrack's Disk Manager product. Sean moved to the Data Recovery team in 1998. After data recovery training, Sean joined the Remote Data Recovery team just as Ontrack was launching the patented Remote Data Recovery service. After an exciting year of providing Remote Data Recovery service, Sean relocated to the United Kingdom, Epsom, Surrey, office to establish the Remote Data recovery Service for the UK and France regions.

After 3 years in the UK, Sean returned to Kroll Ontrack's headquarters in Minnesota to focus on providing the highest data recovery solutions for computer data disasters.

Sean Barry is currently a senior data recovery engineer, and is the training coordinator for the data recovery group. In April 2006, Sean was a guest speaker at Ontrack's Data Recovery Symposium. Sean has articles published by Access Control and Security Systems, Disaster Recovery Journal, and Data Management Review. Sean has also contributed numerous articles on Ontrack's web site to help understand data loss and the solutions for data recovery.
