

Hossein ZiaShakeri, Senior Vice President, Spectra Logic

BIOGRAPHY

A key associate since 1984 and the former vice president of advanced engineering, ZiaShakeri was named senior vice president of business development and alliances in 2004 to help maintain the company's leadership position in product innovation and business success. ZiaShakeri has more than 20 years experience in digital and analog hardware design; firmware/software development; and design engineering and management of storage subsystems. He currently leads Spectra's vertical initiatives, including media & entertainment. ZiaShakeri earned a bachelor's of science degree in electrical engineering from Georgia Southern University in 1982.