Tim Feess, Co-founder, MyGnar, Inc.

BIOGRAPHY

Tim Feess is co-founder MyGnar, Inc. Since its inception in 2014, the company has been committed to making the creative process easier for anyone with a camera. As a newcomer in the space armed with innovative technology, the organization has taken a direct approach to researching market needs and building customer-driven applications of storage and computing technology. A generalist by nature, Tim engages with both customer-facing and the engineering teams, responsible for contributing to the organization's approach to product development. Tim holds a bachelor's degree from Princeton and previously worked in Financial Services before leaving to start MyGnar.
